Abstract: there is no more treasure than knowledge, and if you can hold it to your hand. The main cause of crime and jealousy among juveniles is that they have not been able to target their spare time purposefully, and that they have grown up in the spiritual world from the pupil of reading, magic and hearts. The book is a clever, thought-provoking, obscure ocean of thought, which abstains from ignorance and ignorance of evil. Today, young people are living in a time when the science-technology is highly regarded as the highest human dignity and human dignity.

Аннотация: нет больше сокровища, чем знания, и если вы можете держать его в своих руках. Основная причина преступности и ревности среди несовершеннолетних заключается в том, что они не смогли целенаправленно использовать свое свободное время и выросли в духовном мире из учеников чтения, магии и сердца. Книга представляет собой умный, наводящий на размышления, неясный океан мысли, который воздерживается от невежества и невежества зла. Сегодня молодые люди живут во времена, когда наука технология высоко ценится как высшее человеческое достижение.

Human perfection consists not only of health and strength, but also of physical, mental and moral growth. In order to attain this elevation, it must be so-called "life" tests, the swimmers in our oceans, the sprouters of the spells, and the triumph of the triumph over every triumph. A colleague, a close-knit torch on this path is important for the world of books, where the luminous addresses of the ocean's ocean, the water drinking, and the ethos of thought, are of great importance. From the earliest times, human children have sought knowledge and learning from the earliest times of their appearance on earth. This, in its turn, is reflected in the culture of reading.

Child rearing is a very complicated process, which imposes a heavy burden on the parents and the people around them. Our great grandfather, Abdulla Avloniy, wrote: "To be well-educated for the child's welfare and happiness is to keep the body clean, to correct the age, to teach good behavior, and to keep it from bad habits." Indeed, the child is like a sprout, which grows to the point where we grow it. No one is born of a criminal, an arrogant, haughty, or oppressive one. But our children do not find the power to fight against the ignorance of the ignorant, and the two world fossils are falling. After all, the upbringing of children does not mean that you need to upbringing yourself. When a child is brought up in the family, he or she can not only bring comfort and punishment to his parents but also to the detriment of our community.

Today, young people are living in a time when the science-technology is highly regarded as the highest human dignity and human dignity. We have the ancestors who have given us the pride of being a proud person in our rich history, our precious spirituality, our culture, our pride, which can make a worthy contribution to the civilization of the world, but what about the contemporaries who have been easily misled and deceived by some people who are illiterate, can ?! How can it be said that the miraculous swallows, who are healthy and physically minded human beings today, are infecting their hands with blood, and that they are drawn to their loved ones?

The world today is asking you to discover something new or to become a creator of real worlds, to create a place for you from your homeland! In his heart, a brilliant force hopes to be a loyal, patriotic, child-bearing man. Ancestors who have been victorious in the centuries-old question-and-see-out fate, want us to build a bright future today. Should we not respond with enthusiasm to the knowledge that this is so good? Crime, lawlessness is such a bad illusion that the example of a fruit tree is a root of a dried-up worm. It is important for juveniles to make good use of the time, to properly plan their agenda, and to increase the reader's culture in this regard.

Some children love reading books. This is a good quality, but our parents are troubled by what they say: "I brought a book of books, and my son did not even read one page." Have you read that book yourself? When we find time to read and discuss it in the family, we lick. We did not go far beyond the concept of personal example. We did not fulfill the duty of saying, "Here I have brought you a book!" Building a healthy environment for books in the family can be the basis of every family support. It is very important for a student to read a book that has the highest form of discipline, to be able to show personality, to teach books in childhood. It is written in the literature that books in the European countries are published in the series "Monthly - Read". But today, the various books that fill our bookstores have not been long welcomed by their owners. "Is not it a tragedy to go to the market and tell your child whether to buy worms, gum or some expensive toy? Is there a book for my child while passing through a book?" According to statistical data, about 90 percent of children in prisons did not read a single book, 70 percent did not go through the theater, and 100 percent did not know what artists were doing.

His heart will only become a torch of goodness and be a worthy successor to future generations. A heart that is dearer to the book leads a person to the magnificent palace. So let's always be in harmony with the diversity of books, so let's all unite in this movement.
