In its turn teaching and learning English is becoming the actual issue of the national economy and education. English has the third largest number of native speakers in the world, following Mandarin and Spanish. Though many people speak English as their native language, it is very common as a third language. Since it has become such an important language for media, international politics and business, it is estimated that it is the most widely-spoken language overall. There are thousands of books and articles about effective methods of teaching ESP for touristic purpose. By the way, any teaching process should have goal. This goal is forwarded through syllabus and curriculum to the participants of education process. As it was mentioned above government and authority of the republic created the legal and financial basis of the implementation of the decree.

Are all teachers of Uzbekistan taking into consideration the content of the decree in teaching English at schools, academic lyceums and higher educational establishments? Or do they conduct the lesson by teaching vocabulary and grammar, or pronunciation? Do they say something about travelling around the world or tourism issues in the republic?

This point is important, because when state regulations become the goal of every citizen it achieves success exactly. By this article we would like to draw attention to the language materials concerning to travel or tourism. We should teach what the learner really needs in communication or when they meet a foreigner to practice their English. During the class activities the teacher reminds the word 'travel' means that you, as an English-speaking traveler, have the opportunity to go to many places around the world and practice your English! But, what would you say to the English speakers you meet while traveling? Certainly answers may vary but the point is to encourage the learner to speak in English. Usually learners want to learn to speak in a foreign language as quickly and fluently as possible. But it is impossible without sufficient vocabulary and communicative skills. Here we are going to suggest the most common words for the conversation on touristic issues.
